

In early 1977 Lawrence was still in the Norfolk Naval Shipyard. Once spring arrived she began steaming in the VACAPS conducting extensive sea trials. Soon Lawrence headed south for refresher training at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba otherwise known as GITMO. Later in 1977 Lawrence began another Sixth Fleet Cruise.