

In 1985 Lawrence again headed to Guantanamo Bay, Cuba for another round of refresher training. The ship now starting to show her age had the crew there 2-days short of the 90-day requirement to get a Sea Service Ribbon.

Lawrence spent the rest of the year doing local ops off the Virginia Coast or at home.